

New Blackmer Website Update: Success Stories and Training At Your Fingertips

Blackmer is committed to providing innovative products and services, as well as interactive tools to make those products and services come to life for our customers. Blackmer recently updated its website to include a link to a new video download page. This valuable resource allows distributors and end users a chance to download featured videos right to their computers' hard drives. Videos can still be accessed at Blackmer's YouTube Channel.

The subjects range from educational maintenance and training videos to product success stories featuring our customers and distribution partners. By downloading these videos, users have access to them anywhere, not just when connected to the Internet.

With this new feature, people can take helpful Blackmer videos into any remote location where Blackmer pumps and compressors are being used. It gives customers tools that show how our products are used and maintained. More information about the full line of Blackmer products, as well as links to our YouTube Channel and the new Video Download page, are available at <http://www.blackmer.com/>.

Respectfully,

Thomas L. Stone
